

SOLON BROWN
1860-1913

Solon Brown was born 14 Oct. 1860, at Nephi, Juab County, Utah, to Hannah Eliza Woolf and Homer Brown on his father's farm. He was the 3rd of their 14 children.

When Solon was 2 years old, the family left Nephi, partly because of the Indian problems there. They moved to Salt Lake City, where Homer worked on his father's farm until 1881, when the family moved to Taylorsville. Solon would have been 21 years old at that time.

Little is known of Solon's youth—his schooling, hobbies, or other activities.

He later herded sheep in Montana and Wyoming. When he was 52 ½ years old, he contracted Rocky Mountain spotted fever and died at Thermopolis, Wyoming, 19 May 1913. It was some time after his death that a friend of his notified Solon's mother of his death.

When this was written (Sep. 1983), no one was known to be living who ever saw Solon Brown.
